From the Desk of the Principal

It is with great joy and a sense of pride that I present this edition of our college newsletter, which mirrors the growth and aspirations of Jorhat College. As we continue to embrace the evolving landscape of higher education, it is important to recognize the guiding vision of the National Education Policy.

In line with this vision, Jorhat College is delighted to announce that from the coming semester we shall introduce Geography as a Major course, along with Anthropology and Psychology as Minor courses. This is a significant step forward in expanding the academic opportunities available to our students. The flexibility offered under the NEP framework allows students to pursue their interests across disciplines, thereby widening their horizons and enhancing both intellectual and professional growth.

I thank all members of our faculty, administration, and students for their continuous support in turning these visions into reality. Let this newsletter be a reflection of our collective commitment towards excellence in education and our readiness to move forward with confidence and hope.

With warm regards,
Dr. Soumitra Puzari
Principal, Jorhat College

Jorhat College has always stood out as a lively centre of education, ideas, and creativity in Assam. The continuous flow of events keeps our campus full of life and makes Jorhat College one of the most happening places in the state. This newsletter captures the essence of that vibrant journey. It showcases the hard work of our students and teachers who make learning a joyful and engaging experience. Academic excellence and extracurricular achievements go hand in hand here, creating a balanced environment where both knowledge and personality grow together.

Our college community believes that true education means developing curiosity, confidence, and compassion. Whether in the classroom or on the stage, on the field or in research work, every student contributes to the dynamic spirit that defines Jorhat College. As we look back at the many moments shared in this edition, we also look forward with hope and enthusiasm. Together, we will keep Jorhat College a place where learning inspires, ideas flourish, and every day brings new possibilities.
